

Some say that it would be better if the majority of employees worked from home instead of travelling to a work place every day.
Do you think the advantages of working from home outweigh the disadvantages?

As a result of advancement in technology, people have this opportunity to work remotely. Some experts believe that this is very beneficial for society. While there are persuasive arguments in favor of remote working, I would argue that it is better to go to work.

On the one hand, some people believe that there are numerous advantages to working from home. From their point of view working from home can reduce traffic congestion which is one of the most serious concerns of governments these days. It is also mentioned that air pollution will decrease, If so many people do not commute to their work place and it will have good consequences for the environment. Furthermore, individuals should spend lots of time commuting to their work place and coming back to home so during this period instead of wasting their time they can have good opportunities to do useful tasks.

On the other hand, other people believe that there are disadvantages to staying at home and work remotely. To begin with, a sedentary life style will be popular among different levels of society which has adverse effect on the community health and its drawbacks cannot compensate in near future. Besides, it is argued that the working environment has numerous positive effects on people. For instance having contact with different colleagues during work time can increase the level of social contact among workers leading (which leads) them to acquire useful skills of communicating with people. Finally some kinds of work only can be done by participating in a working environment and it is not possible to do the tasks from home.

In conclusion, although working from home has several advantages, I believe the drawbacks are far more. Remote working has an adverse effect on social society health and acquiring useful social contact.
